

Sinclair Broadcasting is abusing the public's airwaves by its intent to air the one-sided, biased, so-called "documentary" about Senator John Kerry. If they show it, they should also show a pro-Kerry film like "Going Upriver." The anti-Kerry rant they plan to run is clearly in the category of a campaign commercial. What is the point of having the FCC if it can't or won't enforce fairness? I believe this is just a bit more important than a split second glimpse of a bare breast!
